Holy Father in Thy mercy
Hear our anxious prayer,
Keep our loved ones, now far absent
'Neath Thy care.

We have been informed of the following fixtures for January:—

Jan. 1st—Parish Tea and Lecture.
„ 9th—Concert in aid of the District Nursing Fund.
„ 14th—Cinderella Entertainment, in aid of the Cripples
Home of the Waifs and Strays Society.
„ 22nd—Old Peoples Tea and Entertainment.

On Christmas Day there were 136 communicants at the Parish Church. This is few enough in our populous parish, and one hopes that in years to come the number may be largely increased. This hope seems reasonable, if one may judge from the past. Ten years ago the number at Christmas was 48, in 1894 it had risen to 70, last year 100. We do not wish to make too much of these facts, but they should indicate an increase of real religious feeling, and a more general obedience to one precept of the Gospel. Religious work has many disappointments and much anxiety, and we should be glad of any encouraging token.

Our Bishop gives notice that he will hold a Confirmation at Quorn Church, on Tuesday, March 5th, at 11 a.m. The Vicar will be glad to have the names of candidates given to him without delay, so that he may make arrangements for preparation.

A very beautiful chalice veil, of point lace, has been made by a parishioner and given to the Church.

Holy Father in Thy mercy
 Hear our anxious prayer,
 Keep our loved ones, now far absent
 'Neath Thy care.

The news of the QUEEN'S death reached Quorn about an hour and a half after it took place, the official message received at the Post Office being—

"Her Majesty the Queen passed away at 6.30 this evening." By the kindness of the Postmaster a copy of the message was immediately sent to the Village Hall, where there was a large gathering of the parishioners, on the occasion of the Old People's Tea. It was thought best to let the Entertainment, then going on, conclude before any announcement was made. At the end the National Anthem, played without words being sung, followed by the tolling of the Church bell soon made the sadness known.

The signs of mourning so general throughout the country have been manifested here too. The altar and pulpit in the Church were draped in mourning, and preparations are being made for the solemn Memorial Service, on Saturday, February 2nd, the day of the Queen's funeral.

The prayers for the Sovereign and Royal Family in the daily service, were first used in the altered form on the morning after the Queen's death. Instead of the well remembered mentioned of Queen Victoria we say now "Our Most Gracious Sovereign Lord King EDWARD," and in the prayer for the Royal Family, "Our Gracious Queen ALEXANDRIA, "GEORGE, Duke of Cornwall and York, the Duchess of Cornwall and York, and all the Royal Family."

On Septuagesima Sunday, February 3rd, collections will be made for the Church of England Temperance Society, and the Sermons morning and evening will be preached by the Rev. A. J. Meakin, Organizing Secretary for this Diocese.

There will be no mid-day Celebration of the Holy Communion on February 3rd.

The floods which closed the old year and brought in the new visited Quorn with great severity. There were signs that seem to indicate that they were higher than at any other time within memory, and yet some people were convinced that the water was higher in the July flood (i.e. in 1875). We believe the fact to be that on Soar Side the water was higher than ever, but that at the Cross there was greater depth in 1875. With regard to the comparative depths on Soar Side there is pretty certain evidence. In the old house at the Wharf the level of the July floods was preserved by the mark on a tall clock case, which the writer has seen, and when the new house was built three years ago the new floor was put 7 inches above this old flood mark, and yet this New Year's Eve the water came in. Then again the houses in Freehold Street have never been so flooded before. This time the water reached to the upper end of the street.

On the other hand at the Cross, people say that in 1875 the water came up to Mr. Cradock's stables, and reached the window sills at the White Horse.

It seems likely that the difference at the centre of the Village was due to the construction of the Reservoir which was very low when the floods came and so retained most of the water from the Forest.

Though very much inconvenience was caused by the flooding of houses in the hindering of work yet there were two good points about this flood. First it came up in the daylight, and secondly it went down as fast as it rose, having all disappeared from the houses the next morning.

Notwithstanding the floods the day before and the frosty fog that followed New Year's Day the Tea and Lecture were quite successful. There were 140 at the Tea. If the weather had been better we should have hoped to see 200. Perhaps the late hour (7 p.m.) seemed to some too late for a Tea, but it was put late so has to allow people to come home from work, and we believe that it suited some better than an earlier hour. At 8 o'clock the Hall filled up for Mr. Ekanayake's Lecture on Ceylon. There was but one opinion on this matter, everyone being delighted with the clear and interesting nature of the Lecture. The interest and attention of the audience never seemed to slacken for a moment of the hour and a quarter. The skilful manipulation of the pictures by Mr. Sydney Wright with his lime-light lantern was a great help. The amount collected in connection with the Lecture, together with a small profit on the Tea, was £2 18s. 10d., which amount has been sent out to Ceylon for the Church Fund there. One Missionary Box given out on the occasion has already been brought in full.

The Theatrical Performances chiefly by children of Quorn and Woodhouse on Jan. 14th and 19th was so popular that it produced the sum of £35 which we should think is the highest sum ever received in connection with an Entertainment at Quorn. The Charity which benefited by it is the Cripples' Home of the Waifs and Strays' Society at Leicester.

The Old People's Tea and Entertainment on Tuesday, Jan. 22nd, as usual, proved a great success. There were 120 old people present besides a number of others who came in to see the Entertainment which followed. It was thought right not to put off this event on account of the sad news of the Queen; everyone could feel sure what Her Majesty's own wishes would have been could she have known of the intended treat for our old folks. We have tried to think how many people there are left in Quorn who have reached the Queen's age, and we believe it to be only 4.

Holy Father in Thy mercy
Hear our anxious prayer,
Keep our loved ones, now far absent
"Neath Thy care.

Some notice of our Memorial Service on the day of the Royal Funeral (Saturday, February 2nd) should be put on record. It was no surprise of course that the Church should be crowded on such an occasion. Some no doubt came just out of excitement, or curiosity, but most we hope came as a pious duty, to commemorate before God the blessing that He gave us in the work and good example of our great Queen. Such an occasion reminds us how small our Church is in proportion to the population. It only requires about one-sixth of the inhabitants to fill the Church, and yet how seldom is it really filled, except upon some occasion of unusual interest. But it is a good thing if even two or three times in the year the Church is crowded, because then it shows that the Church is really free and open to all who come, and that nothing but their own unwillingness keeps people away.

On Tuesday, March 5th, at 11 a.m., the Bishop of Peterborough will hold a Confirmation in our Church. Though the time is inconvenient from the point of view of work, we have no doubt that many will be able to attend.

The parents of those who are to be confirmed should make a special effort to be present, but it is right to warn people that the whole of the front of the nave will have to be reserved for the candidates from our own and the neighbouring parishes. 37 will be presented from Quorn. This is no great number considering our large population, but it is the larger than any previous year of which there is record.

The Annual Meeting of the Subscribers to the District Nursing Fund, will be held at the Village Hall, on Monday, March 11th, at 7.30 p.m.

The Meeting of the Mothers' Union addressed by Mrs. Nance, on January 31st, was most successful considering the wintry weather. About 60 members were present.

It will be expected that we should make some reference to the death of a second young parishioner at the war. In the case of the other death the deceased was but little known in the parish having chiefly lived elsewhere, but poor John Davis lived at Quorn all his life till he went out to the war just a year ago. And he was well known because of his being good at cricket and football. We remember some years ago being struck with his fine appearance in the football field. No doubt in his case, as with many others, his athletic training was useful when he came to the battle field, but, alas, it has not saved him from death! It is sad to be cut off in the prime of manhood, but there is always this consolation about such a death, that it was unselfish and in a good cause. And one hopes too that seeing men fall about them must make the most careless turn their hearts to God in preparation for their own end. As we read in the papers the news of so many men being killed we do not think much about it, and yet many a time the news causes a broken heart somewhere. In the case of sickness there is some kind of preparation but the suddenness of the announcement in these cases is very terrible. In this instance the news came by telegram from the War Office to the mother, in these words (February 21st)—

"Regret to report John Davis, 2177, killed Feb. 2nd, at Honingsklip. No details yet received." And no details are yet known. Perhaps we shall have to wait till the troops return to know any more. A letter dated Jan. 18th was received from the deceased on the very same day as the telegram, in which the hardships of the work were spoken of with eager hopes of return!

When the war is at an end the memory of our local soldiers must not be allowed to pass away. Some permanent memorial should be set up to show how well Quorn was represented when the honour of the Empire was in danger.

Another case in which much anxiety has been caused is that of Edward Smith who having joined the Imperial Yeomanry was taken very seriously ill at Aldershot Camp. We are glad to say that he is now reported much better.

According to our reckoning there are now 44 Quorn men who have served or are ready for active service by land or sea!

We are very sorry that the measles have visited the village. The complaint seems in itself mild, but even the isolation and simple treatment that are necessary entail much wear and tear upon those who are responsible. Those households where measles followed the scarlet fever are much to be pitied. It is hoped that the schools will not have to be closed, though as many as half the children have been absent.

The Vicar writes:—On the three Sundays preceding Easter, i.e. March 17th, 24th, and 31st, immediately after evening service a short Lecture will be given on the subject of Holy Communion. I believe that one reason why this sacred ordinance is so much neglected, is because of the neglect of teaching on the subject in past times. I shall try in these three Lectures (lasting about a quarter-of-an-hour each) to convey some real instruction on this important matter, and also to remove some difficulties that people feel about coming and receiving the Sacrament. These Addresses are not intended only for young people, and I sincerely hope that older people will set a good example by attending.

We publish this month a summary of Mr. Hayward's Report as Superintendent of the Sunday Schools, for last year, which was read at the Prize-giving. We commend it to our readers, as an evidence of the zealous care with which his work is done. As Mr. Hayward says, Sunday School work is very thankless and discouraging, and there is all the more credit when it is carried out with zeal and regularity. There is one very important point upon which too much emphasis cannot be laid, and that is that no misbehaviour is permitted either at the Schools in the morning or in Church in the afternoon. Often Sunday School is a scene of disorder and bad conduct, but it is not so in this case. The Vicar wishes to thank Mr. Hayward, and all others, who assist him in this important part of pastoral work, and he is sure that the parents of the children, as a body, will echo his expressions of gratitude.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS FOR THE YEAR ENDING ADVENT, 1900.

The Superintendent considers the progress made by some of the best Scholars in each class highly satisfactory, but that the progress and attendance of the children, as a whole, is not so good as it should be.

Whilst some few children at the head of each class attend with very great regularity, the majority are very irregular, and do not take much trouble to learn the lessons set, and for this the Teachers are not to blame. Unless the Teachers have the co-operation of the Parents, their labours must necessarily be in vain.

The Teachers' influence over their Scholars extends but for one short hour, on one day out of the seven, and unless it is supplemented by the example and teaching of the parents themselves, their labours are not likely to have much effect. A child cannot be one thing on a Sunday and another thing on the other six days of the week. Religion is not a thing to be put on with ones Sunday clothes, it must, to be of any value whatsoever, be an influence extending into the everyday life of a person, and parents must not think when they have dressed their children and sent them off to Sunday School that they have done all that is required of them as regards the Religious bringing up of those whom God has committed to their charge. Some parents take care to see that their children learn the lessons set, and that they attend Sunday School regularly, but this is by no means generally the case.

There is one simple means by which any parent can see whether the child sent to School has really attended or not, and this is by means of the star cards, which are given to all children who ask for them. The star cards are marked regularly both morning and afternoon, they do not count for Prizes, but only as a record of attendance, and are intended for the use of the parents.

The Prizes are given to those who obtain the highest number of marks in each class. Ten marks can be obtained each Sunday, eight in the morning and two in the afternoon; of the eight in the morning, five are given for lessons said in School, and supposed to have been learnt during the week, and three are given for good conduct and attention to the Teacher's lesson—attention not attendance. The two marks given in the afternoon are for good conduct and attention to the lessons. Attendance does not gain marks directly, but only indirectly, for of course if a child does not attend School that child cannot receive any marks. The lessons said in School in the morning are supposed to be learnt during the week, and are published every month in the Parish Magazine, generally a verse or two of a hymn or a psalm, and for the first three classes of Boys and Girls in the upper School, the collect in addition.

It says a great deal for the children, and also for their parents, that no less than 19 children have obtained full marks this year, and several have only missed them by very few.

Taking the Upper School alone, out of 147 on the books 16 obtained full marks, 41 obtained three-quarter marks, and 27 obtained half marks; there were 57 prizes given, from which it will be seen that in order to get a prize in the Upper School a child has had to make three marks out of a possible four.

As regards illness, or absence from the village on a holiday, or otherwise, marks are allowed for as follows:—if a child has previously made full marks, then full marks are allowed, if only half marks, then half marks are allowed, and so on in proportion; in fact in adding up the marks a proportion sum is always calculated whenever illness or unavoidable absence from School can in any way affect a child's chance of getting a prize. It must however be left to the parents and the children themselves to see that the Teachers are told when a child is unavoidably absent, so that "sick marks," as they are called, may be allowed.

THURSDAY 10TH NOVEMBER 1868
THE PARISH MAGAZINE

If any parents do not understand why their children do not get prizes, the Superintendent hopes that they will call upon him to enquire, it is always a pleasure to him to explain matters to parents, and to shew them the marks obtained by their children, and to clear up any doubts, or it may be mistakes, that may have arisen, and although the Superintendent hopes and thinks that mistakes are very few and far between, still he is always ready and willing to look carefully into these matters.

The discipline of the Schools is all that can be desired, every child knows that he or she must obey, and the Superintendent has not had a single case of disobedience to orders brought before his notice during the past year.

As regards the Teachers the Superintendent is happy to state that they have, as rule, been most regular and attentive to their self imposed duties; he feels it a great privilege to have such an excellent staff of Teachers, and wishes to thank them for the hearty co-operation and for the way in which they have carried on their work, with but scant thanks and encouragement.

The amount spent in prizes this year is about the same as usual, though the number of prizes have been rather increased owing to the high proportion of marks obtained. In future no prizes will be given to either the Vestry or the Bible Classes, as it is thought that grown up young men and women ought not to, and probably do not, expect prizes like children.

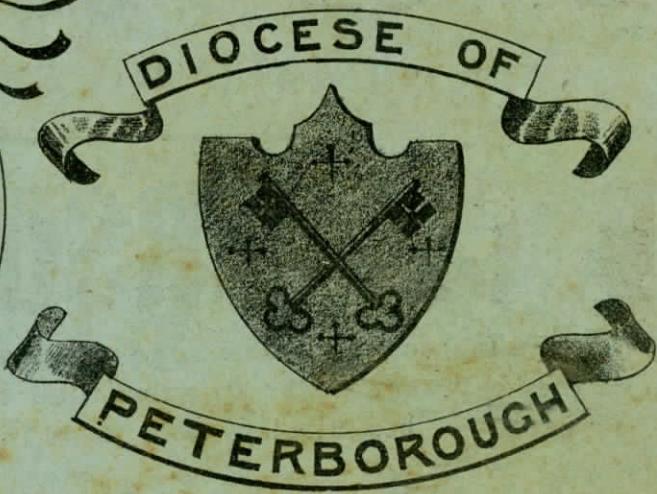

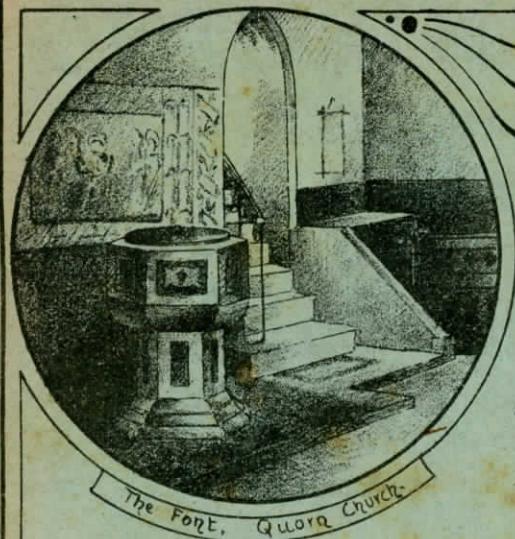

The accounts of the Sunday Schools will be published in next month's magazine.

In conclusion the Superintendent congratulates the children on the excellent behaviour in School, and the very high proportion of marks obtained, and he appeals to the Parents to assist him and the Teachers in their efforts to render the influence of the Schools more real and effective.

Holy Father in Thy mercy
Hear our anxious prayer,
Keep our loved ones, now far absent
'Neath Thy care.

We are glad to be able to record a steady increase in the circulation of our Magazine. It was started very successfully by Mr. and Mrs. Faithfull about 12 years ago, and when they left, more than 300 copies were sold each month. It would not have been unsatisfactory to have just kept up this number—considering that there were then only about 400 houses in the parish, but with the increase of houses to 500 now, the number of Magazines has risen and this year it has for the first time attained 400 copies. This is encouraging to the Editor and the District Visitors who take the pains of distribution.

The following extract from a letter received from Mr. W. F. Martin (of The Brand) who is attached to the Corps of Yeomanry that Trooper Davis belonged to, will be of sad interest to our readers. It tells how our young neighbour came by his death.

STANDERTON,
FEBRUARY 16th, 1901.

I am sending you a parcel with one or two small personal effects which were on poor John Davis when he was killed on the 5th in the country between Bethlehem and Schorpoort on the Wilge River O.R.C. You will of course have seen his death reported in the list long before this reaches you. Would you mind handing them over to his mother and telling her how much I and his comrades feel having lost him. He was a thorough good soldier of the rough and tumble sort and a hard fighting man, one of a kind that the Boers take care never to meet in the open. The thing happened when our squadron were doing advance guard to a column moving from Bethlehem to Vrede and we were just preparing to charge and occupy a small rise which was supposed not to be held at all by the Boers. The troop had halted for a moment while some wire was being cut in a fence when a heavy fire was opened 700 yards away on the top of the rise. The only thing to do was to gallop to shelter under a dip in the ground 400 yards away. I was a bit behind the men and was watching for someone to fall all the way, but all seemed well when poor Davis was dropped by a chance bullet through the neck, he threw up his hands and fell like a stone and died in a few minutes, I think the artery was pierced and he was bleeding inwardly. There were 2 horses, 1 man, young Jesson from Coalville, hit at the same time. Jesson I'm glad to say is doing well and will, I hope, be on the active list again before long. We buried Davis that same evening, Colonel Davenport read the service; General Campbell and officers from the other regiments and batteries in the column attended. The pioneers of the 2nd battalion Grenadiers put up 2 stones with an inscription cut, and planted shrubs on the top. What made the case particularly hard was that the poor chap was actually under shelter at the moment and the shot which hit him could not have been aimed at him. I have given you these few details hoping they may be of interest to his mother and relations, with apologies for sending you on such a sad mission. I hope we may meet before many months in better times.

We hope this will be in the hands of our readers before Sunday, March 31st, on which night the CENSUS or numbering of the whole population of the Country is to be made. We have seen one of the papers that will be left at every house to be filled up and it looks as though the full directions that are given on it will be likely to puzzle some people. We recommend those who have to fill up the papers to read them through very carefully first and even to fill them in in pencil before using ink. We suppose it will be some time before the population of our parish is known. We hazard a guess at what it will prove to be. We make our reckonings upon the number of houses which now exceeds 50. We set it at 250. We shall be surprised if it falls short of this, but think it likely to be more.

The Vicar writes:—I hope that a paper setting out the way in which Holy Week and Easter will be kept at the Parish Church will be delivered at every house. It will be seen by this that there are opportunities for everyone to take part in the devotions of the season. In particular I urge the duty of Communion at Easter and call attention to the Service of Preparation on Wednesday Evening, (April 3rd) at 7 p.m. (not 7.30.)

I hope to have a SPECIAL MESSAGE to the COMMUNICANTS at Easter about a matter that the Bishop referred to in his Address at the Confirmation; viz.:—the formation of a Communicants' Guild. This is a matter that I have often had in mind, but have considered that it required very careful thought in order that an effective and useful organization might be formed. I should like to make this fresh piece of work the outcome of this Lent, and propose to give particulars in the Message of which I have spoken.

The assistance of the Rev. G. B. Ekanayake in Holy Week and Easter will not only lighten the stress of work for me, but will, I am sure, be acceptable to the parishioners.

We are glad to call attention to the Musical Society's Concert which is to take place on Monday, April 15th. The work produced this year will be the "May Queen," by Sterndale Bennett. First-rate Soloists have been engaged and Herr Richter has promised to come and play, which should be taken as a great compliment to the Quorn Society and Audience.

Holy Father in Thy mercy
Hear our anxious prayer,
Keep our loved ones, now far absent
'Neath Thy care.

The Vicar writes:—At Easter, according to custom, the Church Accounts are made up. By the state of these some idea may be formed how interest in Church matters stands. Before dealing with the accounts I wish to refer to another matter. As the years pass by I am of course very anxious to mark any sign by which the really religious interest of our people may be noted. I do not say that the following is an unmistakable test, but it must certainly be regarded as an important one, viz.:—the number of persons who come to receive the Holy Sacrament at the Great Festival of Easter.

It is natural for me to look back over the years that I have been here, and I note that on the Easter Day before I came the number was 76. Four years earlier, before Mr. Faithfull came, it had been only 48. It must of course take a long time to make much progress where neglect had been so general.

The numbers of the last few Easters have been small in comparison with our population, or even with our Church-going people—but they have been reached by a gradual advance. Thus, at Easter 1899 (after I had been here seven years), the number was more than doubled, 157. And this Easter the number was 180—150 of whom communicated at the early services (i.e., five times as many as late). We must not make too much of these figures, what is to be aimed at is that Christian people should learn the duty and happiness of regular and frequent communion. It is to help towards this that the Communicants' Guild has been started. In this matter the force of example is very important, and anyone who pledges himself to a regular rule is helping others to do the same. Our religion is not a matter only between ourselves and God, but it binds us to help others in every way we can. It is on this ground chiefly that the appeal to join the Guild has been made. ~~56~~ persons have already joined, and I shall be glad to furnish cards to others and give any explanations that may be desired. I now come to speak of the Church business which was dealt with at the Easter Vestry meeting. The Churchwardens, Mr. Thornton and Mr. Hayward, were re-appointed. Seven of the eight Sidesmen were also re-elected, Mr. Laundon being chosen to fill the place of one who retired. It having been decided to increase the number of Sidesmen to ten Mr. Atter and Mr. Moore were also appointed.

The subject that chiefly occupied the attention of the meeting was the state of the Church Accounts (of which an Abstract is published below). They show that there was a debt of £57 owing at the Bank. This sum of course has not been incurred in one year. At Easter, 1900, there was a debt of £23. I should have liked to have seen this raised and paid off then, but instead of this being done an additional expense of £15 was voted which has not unnaturally led to an increase of debt. This is not due to falling off in collections, which have brought in more than ever before. Since Easter another meeting has been held and a Subscription List opened. By this means £33 12s. 6d. has been raised, and the collections on May 5th will be devoted to paying off what remains.

The debt on the Accounts is chiefly due to the large amount of our Choir and Organ Fund, but it should also be noted that during the last two years four Sundays each year have been allotted to the Fabric Fund, by which means we are now laying up money to meet necessary expenses in the future. Various expedients have been again suggested to prevent debt in the future. One is always brought forward, viz.:—that we should have fewer collections for objects outside the parish. This I hope will never be adopted. We only have seven Sundays for outside objects, all of which have a serious claim upon us. I cannot believe that there should be any difficulty in raising all the money we need for Church expenses without any burden upon anyone, but I am strongly of opinion that a more business-like method of raising the money should be adopted.

We can tell at the beginning of each year very nearly what our Church expenses will come to. It is a certain, definite sum that we need, and the raising of it should not be left to uncertain means. I have for a long time urged (and several share the opinion) that all of us who use and value the Church services should tax ourselves by a regular weekly sum, known and promised beforehand. The contributions should be reckoned in some way according to each ones means. I don't look upon what we give to the Church expenses as a matter of charity, but it is only meeting a liability which we have incurred. We, each one of us, want to know about what our share of the liability is, and then should be ready to meet it. When a rough reckoning on this basis is made it seems plain that no one will be at all heavily pressed. At present some are paying more than their share, because others are not paying enough!

During the coming year on one Sunday in each month (generally the first) the collection will be given to the Choir and Organ Fund. The collections for the present year have been plotted out as follows (N.B.—Church expenses on all Sundays ~~not~~ mentioned):—

April 7—Easter Offerings.
28—Diocesan Association.
May 5—For Debt.

It was natural that the marriage of Mr. Dearden and Miss Firr on April 22nd, should have excited general interest. The bridegroom has now for 10 years been Organist at the Parish Church, and the bride has also been active in Church work during nearly as long a period. The crowd at the Church on the occasion we believe meant more than good natural curiosity and real kindness of feeling and good wishes.

Besides numerous private presents there were gifts from the Girls' Friendly Society, Senior and Junior, from the Choir Men and Choir Boys, and the Musical Society.

In the middle of May (Thursday 16th) comes the much neglected Festival, Ascension Day, and Whitsunday falls on the 26th. What has been said in connection with the Guild applies to such occasions as these. We hope that some effect will be seen in their better observance this year.

Services on Ascension Day.—H.C. 7.30. (not 8); M.P. 10; Choral Evensong, with Sermon 7.30.

On Whitsunday.—Holy Communion at 7; Choral at 8, and after Morning Prayer.

We are sorry that the yearly account of the Magazine Fund was not published earlier in the year. It was prepared long ago but omitted by an oversight.

Last month we gave the account of poor John Davis's death from Mr. Martin's letter. We give below an account of the burial from a letter of Sergeant Peach dated from Kroonstad, March 29th. He says that only himself and one other are left out of their section!

"At night when we reached the next camp we buried him at 5.45. I was in charge of the funeral and picked his grave, he lies on a nice hill slope, the best place I could find under the fire we were in as Boers were all round us firing. The General and all Officers attended and all wore a face of deepest sadness for Jack was liked by all and a good soldier. After the funeral I got two of the Grenadiers to make his grave up, and they did their best and it looked very nice and I was sure that all was done that was possible; they turfed it over and put two stones down at head and foot of grave with his name, age, and date when killed from wounds."

It has been thought that several persons might like to share in the supplying and arranging the flowers for the alter vases. Excluding Lent, when no flowers are used, and the great Festivals when exceptional quantities are required, there are about 40 Sundays when only a few are needed. The Vicar would be glad to hear of any who may be willing to help in this work and how many Sundays they will undertake.

We have been asked to publish the following letter received by Mrs. Hawkes Woodward from Miss Given-Wilson.

ST. MARY'S PARISH SALE ROOM,

PLAISTOW.

DEAR MADAM,

Will you kindly convey to the members of the Quorn Working Party my most grateful thanks for the number of useful garments made by them during Lent for the Poor of our Parish. We were very glad to find the shirts were made of Oxford Shirting, it is so much more durable than any other material. These things will be sold at a nominal price at a Mothers' Sale on May 14th., the proceeds of which are devoted to the maintenance of the Widow's Home.

With grateful thanks to you all for the help you have sent us, believe me

Yours truly,

E. M. GIVEN-WILSON.

The Committee have decided to close the Quorn Parish Library until further notice.

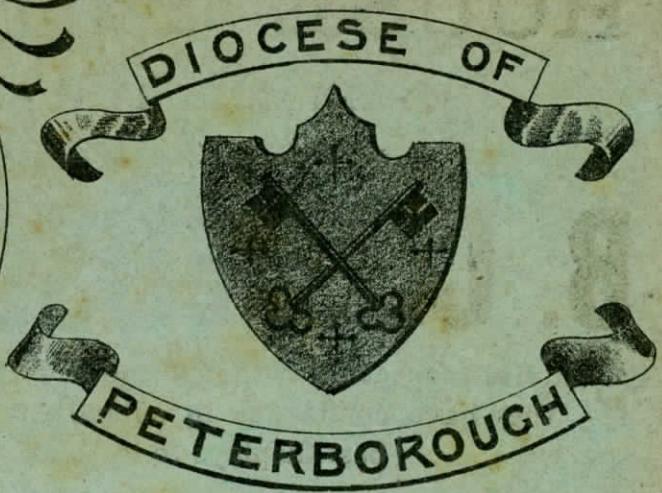

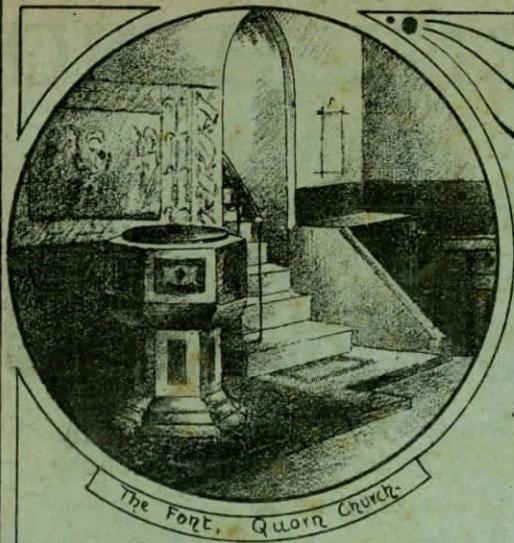

Quorn Parish Nurse's Committee give the following notice:—

Owing to the very small amount subscribed in the village to the Nurse's Fund by those who have had her help, it has been decided after June 1st, to make a small charge (i.e.: 6d. per week) for the Nurse's attendance. Persons receiving Parish Relief or incapacitated through accident may have the nurse free of charge.

H. H. NORTH'S PIANOS are unsurpassed for beauty of tone, delicacy of touch, and solidity of construction. All instruments are iron framed, full trichord, and have improved check action. From 21 Guineas cash, or 13/6 monthly, delivered and tuned first year free of charge.

Holy Father in Thy mercy

Hear our anxious prayer,

Keep our loved ones, now far absent

’Neath Thy care.

The Vicar writes:—I am very sorry indeed to have been so much away from home, but it is only through very urgent medical advice that I have been undergoing treatment at Buxton and I am warned the consequences may be serious if I do not remain there as long as necessary.

I never leave home without making arrangements with some neighbouring clergyman to attend to any cases that may require help. If therefore the presence of a clergyman is required at any time word should be sent to Mr. Herbert, the Parish Clerk.

There is one thing that I particularly regret, that when I am not at home I cannot provide for the week-day services—not that many people attend them—but I hope that the Church bell going morning and evening is a reminder to many of God and prayer, and I do not like to think of this reminder being withdrawn. In our busy every day lives we need every help to recall to us the reality of unseen things in comparison of the passing shadows among which we move and work.

I shall be back to resume this and my other duties as soon as ever my medical adviser will permit it. Meantime my address for any necessary correspondence is Clarendon House, Buxton.

I was glad to find on coming home for Whit-Sunday a few Guild cards signed and put in the box. The number of members is now 81. I was very thankful to hear of the better observance of Ascension Day this year which I attribute to the Guild.

The Collections on May 5th for the debt on the Church Accounts amounted to £8. We give again the List of Subscribers with names added that were received later.

We hope that the Churchwardens will take means to raise this at once.

The Committee of the Quorn Cricket Club are raising a fund to place a Memorial Tablet in the Parish Church to the memory of the late John Davis, killed in the war.

It is hoped that a Meeting of the Mothers' Union can be arranged for within the next few weeks. A lady recently arrived from Church work in India has been invited to come and give an Address.

The Diocesan Inspector paid his annual visit to the Schools on May 6th, and his report of both Departments was as usual highly commendatory.
